

Developing the Parent/Coach Relationship

Both parenting and coaching are extremely difficult vocations. By establishing an understanding of each position, we are better able to accept the actions of the other and provide greater benefit to children.

As parents, when your child becomes involved in athletics at St. Anthony's, you have a right to understand what expectations are placed on your child. This begins with clear communication from the coach of your child's program.

Communication you should expect from your child's coach:

- Coaching Philosophy
- Expectations the coach has for your child and the team.
- Locations and times of all practices and contests.
- Team requirements
- Procedure should your child be injured during participation.
- Discipline that results in denial of your child's participation

Communication coaches expect from parents:

- Concerns expressed directly to the coach.
- Notification of any schedule conflicts well in advance.
- Specific concern regarding a coach's philosophy and/or expectations.

Appropriate concerns to discuss with the coaches:

As your children become involved in the Athletic Program at St. Anthony's High School, they will experience some of the most rewarding moments in their lives. It is important to understand that there may also be times when things do not go how you or your child wishes. At these times, discussion with the coach is encouraged.

- The treatment of your child, mentally and physically.
- Ways to help your child improve.
- Concerns about your child's behavior.

It is very difficult to accept your child not playing as much as you hope. Coaches are professionals. They make decisions based on what they believe best for the team. As seen from the list above, certain things can and should be discussed with your child's coach. Other things, such as the following, must be left to the coach's discretion.

Issues not appropriate to discuss with coaches:

- Playing time
- Team strategy
- Play calling
- Other student-athletes

Procedure to follow to discuss a concern with a coach:

Please wait 24 hours after a contest to discuss a concern with a coach.

Emailing a coach is the best way to set up a meeting to discuss a concern. Coaches are asked to make their email addresses available. A coach's email can be obtained by contacting the Athletic Department.

Please do not attempt to confront a coach before or after a contest or practice. These can be emotional times for both the parent and the coach. Meetings of this nature do not promote a resolution to the issue of concern.

“I ask that you live your sport as a gift from God, an opportunity not only to bring your talents to fruition but also as a responsibility.”
